

October 24, 2017

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Contact: Kara Calvert

202.556.0276

kcalvert@franklinsquaregroup.com

Sarah Beth Jansen Joins Franklin Square Group as Partner

Leading Tech Firm Brings on Republican with Critical Expertise and Reach

Washington, D.C. – Franklin Square Group, a leading bipartisan technology advocacy firm, is pleased to announce Sarah Beth Jansen will be joining the firm as Partner.

Jansen joins Franklin Square from the Information Technology Council (ITI), where she drove policy development and advocacy for over 60 of the world's most innovative technology companies. Sarah Beth is a recognized industry leader in cybersecurity, intellectual property, and high-skilled immigration policy on Capitol Hill and with the new administration.

"From cybersecurity and government surveillance to immigration and patents, Sarah Beth is hard-wired into the biggest tech issues in Washington," said Kara Calvert, a Republican partner at the firm. "Her proven industry leadership and counsel will be an indispensable resource for Franklin Square Group clients."

"Franklin Square Group has a well-deserved reputation as tech translators who can navigate a challenging political environment," said Jansen. "Our clients include some of the most interesting companies in the world, and I'm looking forward to representing them with Washington's premier technology advocacy firm."

Prior to ITI, Jansen spent almost 7 years in the Senate as counsel to Senator Tom Coburn, M.D. (R-OK) on the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs and the Senate Judiciary Committee. She advised the Senator on a range of issues including intellectual property, immigration, antitrust, data security, nominations, and oversight of the Departments of Justice and Homeland Security.

Before entering public service, Jansen worked in the financial services industry in Birmingham, Alabama. Jansen is from Memphis, Tennessee, and earned her J.D. from The University of Alabama School of Law and her B.S.B.A. in Finance from Auburn University.

The Franklin Square Group is a leading government relations and strategic communications firm representing some of the world's most innovative companies and organizations. We are a bipartisan team dedicated to bridging the gap between government and technology.

###